EVENING WORLD WINS THE FIGHT

An Ordinance Providing for Proper Shoeing in Winter Will Be Passed.

will receive the unqualified backing of the Society for the Prevention of Crisity to Animais, the Humans Society of New York Mrs. James Speyer, tounder of a veterinary hospital and one of the greatest work norse beters. If America, and public spirited an error women in general. The amended or humans full be a constromize is were those who have believe there are start methods of shoeing just as enective. The original ordinance presented by the late and March L. It was decided during a nearing before the factors of the Adermen in City Hall yesterday and because of the advisable to extend the time to April L.

The Viol worders of the new ordinance follows: The week of the advisable to extend the time to April L. The Viol worders of the Adermen in City and April L in such year, no borse, more or other tarty animal used for the nursone of driving or hading shall be driven on any of the streets, average, or high any or the gravity of the City of New York nurses the animal is shod in such manner as will prevent shipping."

nos or highways of the City of New York meass the admal is should never manner as will prevent suppling."
The hearing in the City Hall was attended by a large gathering of horse owners and representatives of various societies interested in the wel-fare of animals. Perhaps one of the most surprising features of the gathermost surprising reatures of the gathering was the attitude taken by representatives of a number or borse owners. They first opposed the calking ordinance, claiming that there were other anti-slipping devices as good if not better it was then suggested that in meandment ordinance, not making upon some most device for the protection of horses, be substituted. The horse owners again protested. They contended that the Beard of Aldernen did not have the right to pass any lise curbing cracity to antimals. Among the protesants were representatives of large firms, one of which has been conspicuous in police courts on complaints made by the courts on complaints made by the Humane Society of New York. More will be written of this and other concerns if the circumstance warrants it.

Speaking of The Evening World's grusade in/behalf of better treatment of horses during the winter months. nas Preele, Superintendent of the Paomas I reell, Superit entert of the S. P. C. A., said: "I regard the ordinance a step in the right direction. But I think the owner of a horse should be the Judge of Just what is the proper device to prevent the animal from slipping."

Mr. Preview attacked the lack of

Mr. Freele attacked the lack of foresight in New York City paying. He particularly criticised the taxing of graded streets leading to the rivwooden blocks and smooth

Said Mrs. Spayer: "We are all here Said Mrs. Spayer: "We are all here to do something which will all visite the saffering of our horses during the winter months. We should bring the horse owners, veterinarians and humanitarians together and frame an ordinance which will protect the decent horse owner and punish those who are wantonly cruel to dumb beasts."

beasts."

The Humane Society was represented by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mayer, who have worked tirelessly for years in the interest of better treatment of horses, and by Francis Colgate Dale, Secretary of the se-ciety, Speaking of The Evening World's crussale against brutal horse owners, Mr. Mayer said:

"The attitude of many horse own-ers at to-day's hearing would seem to show that the only interest they have in a horse is measured in dol-lars and cents. The humanitarian element does not seem to figure at all, "One large company, very conspicu-

"One large company, very conspicu-ous to-day in its protest against any kind of city legislation compelling them to be more humans to horses, is among the most flagrant violators of the common laws of humanity. Our records of arrests for crueity to ani-mais will prove this. The Evening World can win this fight, as it has won every other battle for decency."

with English private tutors. One year also was divided between the University of Geneva and the University of Bonn, after which James returned to New York and in 1862 entered the Harvard Law school, although there is no indication that law was with him ever a serious purpose. It was, in fact, early in his studies at Harvard that he began to contribute sketches to the magazines and began a literary career that produced close to a hundred novels and tales, together with critical essays and some play writing.
